Alloys of precious metal are to be classified according to the following rules :
- (a) An alloy containing 2 % or more, by weight, of platinum is to be treated as an alloy of platinum;
 - (b) An alloy containing 2 % or more, by weight, of gold but no platinum, or less than 2 %, by weight, of platinum, is to be treated as an alloy of gold;

- 7.- Throughout the Nomenclature the expression " metal clad with precious metal " means material made with a base of metal upon one or more surfaces of which there is affixed by soldering, brazing, welding, hot-rolling or similar mechanical means a covering of precious metal. Except where the context otherwise requires, the expression also covers base metal inlaid with precious metal.

Subheading Notes.

- 1.- For the purposes of subheadings 7106.10, 7108.11, 7110.11, 7110.21, 7110.31 and 7110.41, the expressions " powder " and " in powder form " mean products of which 90 % or more by weight passes through a sieve having a mesh aperture of 0.5 mm.
- 2.- Notwithstanding the provisions of Chapter Note 4 (B), for the purposes of subheadings 7110.11 and 7110.19, the expression " platinum " does not include iridium, osmium, palladium, rhodium or ruthenium.
- 3.- For the classification of alloys in the subheadings of heading 71.10, each alloy is to be classified with that metal, platinum, palladium, rhodium, iridium, osmium or ruthenium which predominates by weight over each other of these metals.

GENERAL

This Chapter includes :

- (1) In headings 71.01 to 71.04, natural or cultured pearls, diamonds, other precious or semi-precious stones (natural, synthetic or reconstructed), unworked or worked, but not mounted, set or strung; also, in heading 71.05, certain waste resulting from the working of these stones.
- (2) In headings 71.06 to 71.11, precious metals and metals clad with precious metal, unwrought, semi-manufactured, or in powder form, but not having reached the stage of articles classified in sub-Chapter III, and in heading 71.12, waste and scrap of precious metal or metal clad with precious metal, and waste and scrap containing precious metal or precious metal compounds, of a kind used principally for the recovery of precious metal.

Under Note 4 to this Chapter, the expression " precious metal " means silver, gold and platinum. It should be noted that the term " platinum " also covers iridium, osmium, palladium, rhodium and ruthenium.

'Under Note 5 to this Chapter, alloys (other than amalgams - heading 28.43) containing precious metals are classified as follows :

- (A) As platinum - if containing 2 % or more, by weight, of platinum.
- (B) As gold - if containing 2 % or more, by weight, of gold, but no platinum or less than 2 % of platinum.
- (C) As silver - other alloys containing 2 % or more, by weight, of silver.
- (D) As base metals (Section XV) - all alloys containing less than 2 % of platinum and less than 2 % of gold and less than 2 % of silver.

Under Note 6 to this Chapter, unless the context otherwise requires, any reference to precious metal also includes a reference to its alloys as described at (A), (B) and (C) above, but not to metal clad with precious metal, nor to base metals or non-metals plated with silver, gold or platinum.

Under Note 7 to this Chapter, the expression " metal clad with precious metal " means material made with a base of metal, one or more surfaces of which have been covered to any thickness with precious metal by soldering, brazing, welding, hot-rolling or similar mechanical means.

Plates and sheets, bars, etc., of metal clad with precious metal are most frequently made by covering one or both surfaces of the foundation metal with the precious metal, "sweating" the two metals together and then rolling them.

Wire clad with precious metal is obtained by inserting a core of base metal into a tube of precious metal, "sweating" the two metals together and then drawing them through a die.

Except where the context otherwise requires base metal articles inlaid with precious metal are also classified as articles of metal clad with precious metal (e.g., copper plates inlaid with silver strips for use in the electrical industry, and the so-called damaskeen work of steel inlaid with strips or threads of hammered gold).

Metal clad with precious metal, as defined in this Chapter, should not be confused with base metals plated with precious metals by electrolysis, vapour deposition, spraying or immersion in a solution of salts of precious metals, etc. These plated base metals remain classified in the Chapters for the respective foundation metals irrespective of the thickness of the plating.

The Chapter also excludes :

- (a) Colloidal precious metals and amalgams of precious metals (heading 28.43).
 - (b) Radioactive isotopes (e.g., iridium 192) including precious metals in the form of needles, thread or sheets containing radioactive isotopes (heading 28.44).
 - (c) Alloys specially prepared for dental fillings (heading 30.06).
- (3) In general, articles made wholly or partly of natural or cultured pearls, diamonds or other precious or semi-precious stones (natural, synthetic or reconstructed), precious metals or metal clad with precious metal (headings 71.13 to 71.16). In particular, this group includes jewellery and goldsmiths' or silversmiths' wares (see Explanatory Notes to headings 71.13 and 71.14), but it does not include :
- (a) The articles specified in Note 3 to this Chapter.
 - (b) Other articles in which the parts of precious metals or metal clad with precious metal are merely minor constituents, such as minor fittings (for example, monograms, ferrules, rims), provided the goods do not contain natural or cultured pearls, diamonds or other precious stones or semi-precious stones (natural, synthetic or reconstructed).

Knives, pen-knives, carving sets, razors and other articles of cutlery with base metal or non-metallic handles are therefore classified in Chapter 82, even if they have initials, monograms, ferrules, etc., of precious metals or of metal clad with precious metal; (similar cutlery with handles of precious metal or of metal clad with precious metal are classified in this Chapter).

In the same way, bowls, vases and other porcelain, china or glass tableware are classified in Chapter 69 or 70 even if they have minor fittings or ornamentation (e.g., rims) of precious metal or metal clad with precious metal.

This group also excludes articles of base metals or non-metals plated with precious metals (other than articles of metal clad with precious metal).

- (4) Imitation jewellery (heading 71.17) as defined in Note 11 to this Chapter (see corresponding Explanatory Note), other than the articles specified in Note 3 to this Chapter.
 - (5) Coin (heading 71.18), other than collectors' pieces (heading 97.05).
