Such products fall in the heading irrespective of the type of container in which they are put up (often in cans or other airtight containers).

These products, whole, in pieces or crushed, may be preserved in water, in tomato sauce or with other ingredients ready for immediate consumption. They may also be homogenised or mixed together (salads).

Examples of preparations which fall in the heading are :

- (2) Sauerkraut, prepared by partial fermentation of shredded and salted cabbage.
- (3) Sweet corn, on the cob or in grains, carrots, peas, etc., pre-cooked or put up with butter or other sauce.
- (4) Products in the form of thin rectangular tablets made from potato flour, salt and small quantities of sodium glutamate, and partly dextrinised by successive humidification and dessication. These products are intended for consumption as "chips" after deep frying for a few seconds.
