Subject: DETERMINATION OF CUSTOMS VALUE FOR SEWING THREAD UNDER SECTION 25A OF THE CUSTOMS ACT, 1969.

Background: A representation has been received stating that consignments of Sewing Thread were released at varying declared values, resulting in disparity in assessment and lack of uniformity in the local market. In order to ensure consistency and safeguard government revenue, the Directorate has decided to determine the customs values of the subject goods. Accordingly, an exercise has been initiated for determination of customs values of Coconut Oil under Section 25A of the Customs Act, 1969. Meeting notices have been issued to all relevant stakeholders inviting their participation and submission of documentary evidence to facilitate a fair and transparent determination of customs values of the subject goods. The meeting was scheduled on 12.02.2026.

2. Stakeholders' participation in determination of Customs Values: During the meeting, the stakeholders submitted that the subject goods had previously been cleared at comparatively lower declared values, which did not reflect the prevailing international market prices. The customs values of raw material already determined by the Directorate, therefore, based on constitute material the customs values of subject items shall be determined. The stakeholders further stressed that determination on the basis of verifiable international price trends, determined customs values of raw material which supported by contemporary import data and documentary evidence would ensure transparency, uniformity, and protection of government revenue.

3. Analysis for the Determination of Customs Values: Keeping in view the representations submitted by the stakeholders, the import data of the preceding ninety (90) days, along with information obtained from international price sources, was thoroughly scrutinized. The customs values of constitute material based on specifications of the subject goods were also examined. This classification was taken into consideration to ensure an appropriate comparison of values and to maintain uniformity in assessment while determining the customs values of the subject goods.

4. Method(s) adopted to determine Customs values: The valuation methods prescribed under Section 25 of the Customs Act, 1969 were applied in a sequential manner in accordance with the law. Initially, the transaction value method under sub-section (1) was examined; however, it was found inapplicable due to the absence of information required under sub-section (2) of Section 25 of the Customs Act, 1969. The values of identical and similar goods, as provided under sub-sections (5) and (6) ibid, were also examined but could not be solely relied upon for certain origins due to the absence of verifiable evidence concerning the specification of the imported goods, as well as abnormal fluctuations in prices from the same regions of origin. A market enquiry, as envisaged under sub-section (7) of Section 25 of the Customs Act, 1969, was conducted in accordance with the procedure laid down in Office Order No. 17/2014 dated 19.03.2014. Local markets were visited; however, the findings could not be considered fully reliable owing to irregular and inconsistent pricing trends. The computed value method, as prescribed under sub-section (8) of Section 25 of the Act, was also examined. In this regard, the international prices of the raw material, along with the processing and further value addition were also consulted through international sources. Finally, market information obtained from credible online sources were gathered, analyzed, and utilized. Based on this comprehensive evaluation, the customs values of the subject goods have been determined under sub-section (9) read with sub-section (6) and (8) of Section 25 of the Customs Act, 1969 further read with first proviso of Section 25A of the Customs Act, 1969. This methodology ensures that the determination of customs values is fair, transparent, and fully compliant with the law.
